GOT WRONG MAN

TRENTON MAN WAS NOT THE CHECK FORGER.

WAS WILLING TO COME

Sure of Proving He Was Not Man Wanted, Clyde Benson Accompanied Officers Here.

According to the Trenton Republican Clyde Benson of that place was arrested Sunday and brought to Maryville by Sheriff Ed Wallace and Chief of Police Moberly on a charge of forging the name of R. P. Hosmer to two checks here for $5 each. But it turned out that Mr. Benson was the wrong man, and he was released by the officers here. The article from the Trenton paper follows:

Clyde Benson, who was taken into custody by Officer Andy Welch on suspicion of being the man wanted for two forgeries in Maryville, was released by Nodaway county officials yesterday immediately upon his arrival with the officers into that city as every man interested in the case positively said that he was not the man who passed worthless checks on them. In addition to this absolute acquittal Benson substantiated his profession of innocence with an uncontrobertible alibi. He was in Trenton the day the checks were passed and had never in his life been in Maryville. A week ago he had been in St. Joseph visiting his sister.

Sheriff Lowry of Princeton had left a card giving a description of "C. L. Benson," the man wanted, with Officer Welch and he arrested Clyde Benson the Trenton man who never uses an initial in his name and held him until the arrival of the officers from Maryville Sunday evening, when he was turned over to them and taken over two hundred miles in a car, arriving at Maryville yesterday afternoon. Benson insists that the description did not fit him at all.

Leo Butler, clerk at the County Seat hotel, cashed one for $5 and Hudson & Welch one for $5. At the hardware store he purchased a knife and a grass hook. Kyle Phares let the man have 50 cents. All informed the officers that they had the wrong man. R. P. Hosmer's name was forged. Chief of Police Moberly and Sheriff Ed Wallace were profuse in apologizing to the Trenton man for the mistake of his arrest.

Benson has never been in trouble of any sort here and his friends were confident that the Nodaway officers would not hold him, and he himself was quite willing to go and clear away any suspicion that might attach by reason of his having been in custody here on a false accusation.

TROUBLE AT ARKOE.

Marshall Finch and Will Swinford in Fight Yesterday—Authorities Are Investigating.

From reports from Arkoe, a fight took place there Wednesday night when Marshall Finch of that town attempted to arrest Will Swinford, who was charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace. Swinford resisted the officer, so it is said, and Marshall Finch used his club three times across Swinford's head before the arrest was made. Swinford was brought to Maryville Wednesday night by Finch, but Sheriff Wallace did not put him in jail.

Swinford was in conference with Prosecuting Attorney George Pat Wright this afternoon, and after the conference Mr. Wright left in a car for Arkoe to investigate the matter. Swinford wants a warrant issued for Finch, and Finch wants one for Swinford.

PARCEL POST MAPS AND GUIDES.

Instructions as to the Sale—For the Guide 55 Cents, and 20 Cents for the Maps.

According to the notice of A. M. Dockery, third assistant postmaster general, it says:

For the purpose of determining rates of postage on fourth class, or parcel post mail, a guide for 55 cents and a map for 20 cents may be purchased, together or separately (the two are used jointly in computing postage), by sending a money order for the proper amount payable to the third assistant postmaster general, division of finance, Washington, D. C. Postage stamps are not accepted. The guide is applicable to all post offices, but a separate map is required for each one of the 3,500 squares or units of area into which the country is divided, and it is, therefore, necessary in ordering a map to state at what postoffice it is to be used.

TWO FIRST GRADES.

Nodaway County Teachers Secured Certificates—Both of Them From Clyde.

Only two teachers in Nodaway county have secured first grade certificates since the first of the year, and that happened as the result of the recent teachers' examination, held in June. The papers of those writing for first grade certificates were sent to the state department of education at Jefferson City for grading purposes. County Superintendent Oakerson received word Thursday of those that were successful. They are:

First grade—Sister M. Frances of Clyde and Sister N. Loretta, also of Clyde.

Second grade—Clotilda Busby of Maryville, Margaret Thomas of Clyde and L. S. Mendenhall of Barnard.

Third grade—Anna Zavadil of Clyde.

A Better Babies Winner.

Here is a picture of Helen Isabelle Hamlin, the fair-haired, blue-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hamlin of Maryville, who won first prize for being the best all-round baby between two and a half and three and one-half years of age, in the contest for better babies in Nodaway county on the Fourth of July.

Helen Isabelle does not yet appreciate her position among the babies of the county, but her parents do, of course, and take pardonable pride in her for that reason. But her value to them, as every other father and mother knows, cannot be estimated.

DEATH OF JOHN W. BAILEY.

After a Short Illness, Passed Away Wednesday Evening—Funeral Friday Afternoon.

John W. Bailey, one of Maryville's highly esteemed citizens, died at his home on Lawn avenue Wednesday evening at 5:15 o'clock, after a week's illness. Mr. Bailey was stricken with paralysis ten days' ago and had not regained consciousness since.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family residence, conducted by the Rev. Gilbert S. Cox of the First M. E. church. The body will lie in state from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. Interment will take place in Oak Hill cemetery.

John Wood Bailey was born in Morgan county, Ohio, May 19, 1836, making him 77 years old at the time of his death. He grew to manhood there and married October 17, 1862, to Miss Ann Elizabeth Pierpoint, who was the mother of the five children who survive—Benjamin Bailey of Clark's, Neb.; Charles Bailey of near Ravenwood; Mrs. Emma Koch of Fredonia, Kan.; Mrs. Laura Bloomfield of Parnell, and Ira Bailey of Maryville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey came to Nodaway county in 1874 and settled on a farm a few miles northwest of Maryville where Mrs. Bailey's death occurred September 14, 1884.

Mr. Bailey married a second time on Thanksgiving day, 1889, to Mrs. Ellen Joy of Maryville. After a short residence in this city they moved to a farm three miles north of Maryville, and a few years later purchased a farm south of the city, where they lived until two years ago last spring, when they moved to their present home on North Lawn avenue.

Mr. Bailey is survived by his wife, the five children already named, two sisters and a brother, who are: Mrs. Albert Carr, living near Maryville; Mrs. Paul Croy of Athelstane, Wis., and James Bailey of Springville, Ia.

Mr. Bailey was not a member of any church. He was reared in the Quaker faith and adhered to the simple faith of these people.

ORPHANED ALLEYS

SOME THAT NEED ADOPTION BY THE CITY DADS.

THINGS TO COMMENCE

City Federation Found Things to Criticize and Also Things That Were Commendable.

The city federation held its business meeting Wednesday afternoon and a right nice meeting it was. According to schedule each lady told of a location in mind, some place in town, which, according to her notion, was not being kept up to the standard that progressive patriotism demands these days.

All of the enthusiasm of men voters should not be expended on July 4 only. The scythe wielded in the right spirit on common days will please Uncle Sam just as much.

There were things mentioned which were reprehensible, and then to counteract them and to put a mark to somebody's credit, they were things commendable.

In the first class were these: Some alleys which have need of a city dad or a home mother to adopt them, notably the one between North Main and Market, Fourth and Fifth, and the other between South Main and Market, Cooper and Edward; the weeds, the eternal weeds which we have always with us, came in for their share of wrath, and the ones especially cited this time, grow on Third street, right close to the square, and others brush the ladies' dressed out on Prather avenue.

Weeds being the special outlet for wrath, we might mention the crop grown up around the machinery stored on the parkway on East Sixth, just off Main.

And Lover's Lane, that once was beautiful, its vista being unimpeded by any manure piles, came in for a dig because two now adorn the east side.

Weeds that once were, but now are not, drew forth favorable comment from one woman, who had taken them most to heart. She said a walk to the Wabash station which had been badly infested by them had been cleaned up, also the old lumber lot on West Third. Joy!

And the hearts of the young men who mowed the yard of the residence lot on West First for white way day would swell with pride if they had heard the words of praise from those present.

These were a few of the things talked of; not least of them, either, being the possibility of a rest room, the need of which was more flagrantly manifest than ever before during Maryville's recent celebrations.

A hostess is not very hospitable, is she, when she invites guests and takes their money, and after they arrive has not place for them to straighten their hair or powder their noses?

This is the kind of a hostess Maryville is.

Oughtn't she be ashamed?

A rest room is talked of in a whisper as yet, but the whisper is gaining breath.

Don't let anybody get mad because his toes have been nearly stepped on; let him keep them from being trodden to a pulp by going and removing the cause of the close proximity of other people's feet.

WIDENS CALL FOR ROAD DAYS.

Governor Major Will Ask County Court to Aid Work.

Governor Major said Wednesday that in issuing his proclamation setting apart two days in August, he will call upon the various county courts of the state at their August meetings to supplement his proclamation with advice to the road overseers as to making the proper preparations, so the three hundred thousand volunteers may be directed to the greatest advantage.

The governor is not joking about working upon the highways with a pick and shovel himself. He will not only work upon some Cole county highway himself, but he will urge every state official and every employee of the state to do likewise.

The governor now believes that a half million men and boys will respond and that, too, in addition to the teams and tools that will be furnished free. The proclamation will be issued within the next ten days. It is possible that the governor will set apart the two days in August as holidays and ask a general suspension of business.

Visitors From Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hogan of Kansas City will arrive Thursday night on a visit to Mrs. Mary Malam and family.

TO DO SOME PAVING.

It is Thought Two Blocks on Market From First to Third Will Be Paved.

It looks as though some paving will be done in the city. At least a majority of the property owners on Market street between First and Third streets are in favor of the proposed improvement on that street, so it is said. The city council was to have taken up the paving on that street some time ago, but owing to there being a majority of the property owners on the remonstrance petition, the matter was dropped for the time being, and now it is said that there are enough signers of the petition for paving. An alley between Second and Third and Main and Market streets is also to be paved. The paving question will come up at a special meeting of the city council to be held within the next few days.

Another place the city would like to have paved is from Market to Buchanan on Fifth street, but the property owners in that district are opposed to the improvement. This street is on the side of the new postoffice building.

Mayor Robey is strongly in favor of more paving in the city and intends to bring up the matter of paving various streets from time to time.

COLLECTING POLL TAX.

Street Commissioner Woods Started Out Wednesday and Took in $104.

The poll tax of the city is now being collected and every able bodied male person between 21 and under 60 years has to either pay $2 or work that amount on the streets of the city. Street Commissioner M. I. Woods is doing the collecting, and on Wednesday had received $104, a record breaking collection as compared to a year ago. The money received from the poll tax is used on the streets of the city.

On Visit to Kansas.

Miss Lois Van Buren of Pickering was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Robinson Craven over Wednesday night. She left Thursday morning for Redfield, Kan., accompanied by Miss Pearl Craven and Lois Harvey of Pickering on a visit to their uncle, J. F. Van Buren and family, who moved to near Redfield from Pickering about two years ago.

TWO CHAUTAUQUS CLOSE.

Last Session at Graham Wednesday While Barnard Winds Up Thursday Night.

The Graham Chautauqua closed a very successful session Wednesday night, and the Barnard Chautauqua, which is on the same circuit, closes tonight.

Hon. Charles J. Hall of California delivered the closing lecture at Graham yesterday, and he was so well liked that the people voted to have him again next year. He gave the address at Barnard this afternoon and will lecture there again tonight.

The Graham Chautauqua will be given by the Imperial Chautauqua company. This was decided by a vote of the people at Graham yesterday. The Imperial company is under the management of the Jones Chautauqua company, the company which provided the talent this year. The Imperial company is a higher priced one than this year's.

The Chautauqua session at Graham was the greatest financial success of any session on the circuit this year. The receipts were a little over $600.

There was a large attendance at the Barnard Chautauqua this afternoon, and a bigger crowd is expected at tonight's program. As was stated in Wednesday's Democrat-Forum, 302 tickets were guaranteed at the meeting Tuesday night toward a Chautauqua in Barnard next year.

CARE OF FOODS.

Great Precaution Necessary During Hot Weather.

Hot Weather Hints.

Clean your ice boxes and don't handle your food more than necessary.

Cook everything you eat.

Don't place too much faith in that "guaranteed under the pure food law" label.

Boil all water that you aren't sure is pure as the breath of heaven.

And swat the fly.

Peering anxiously at the thermometer, which stood at 96 and at the weather report, which declared the mercury due for a long stay in that neighborhood, the health guardians in the bureau of chemistry, department of agriculture, has issued the following hot weather instructions on the care of foods.

"In hot weather bacteria multiply far more rapidly than in cool weather and produce chemical changes in food that sometimes make them unfit for human consumption. There is no quick, absolute way of determining the presence of hurtful bacilli in food or of obtaining positive evidence of the presence of ptomaine poisons. The housewife will find eyes and nose the safest practical detective of bad food in hot weather.

"If any article has the least suspicion of taint, or doesn't smell, look or taste just right avoid it. People eating in doubtful restaurants should be particularly careful about fish or meats cooked in spiced sauces to disguise their flavor.

"Meat, soft, slimy or spotted should be avoided; milk deteriorates rapidly under summer heat and should be kept carefully.

"All food should be covered or wrapped and always kept out of reach of the flies, deadly carriers of disease.

"The ice box, with its drin pipe should be cleaned thoroughly every day.

"Avoid uncooked foods as a general rule and do not let the children eat the skins of fruits, especially if they have been exposed to flies or street dirt on push carts."

The Man That Sees.

Success is not always or often won by doing big and brilliant things. It is achieved by seeing and doing the little things.

The man who is looking alone for spectacular effects may fail to observe the smaller details, which, if taken together, amount to more than the large stunt he is trying to pull off.

It is the chap with the microscopic eye who overlooks nothing, cuts every possible corner, however small, and seeks in the minute ways to improve his business who comes in winner.

About each of us are a thousand unimproved opportunities which are overlooked because they seem too little to bother with. Yet, if added together, they constitute the difference between success and failure.

Most big businesses, if legitimate, are run on a narrow margin of profit. Taken on each individual item the amount seems insignificant. In the aggregate it foots up millions.

Most successful men might have trouble in giving you the general rule by following which they have come out ahead of the game. Their story, if told, would be of a multitude of details, the seizing of small opportunities that the other men overlook.

Tennyson was the greatest poet of the last generation. One of the secrets of his greatness lay in his artistic finish. He took infinite pains in polishing his work, spending hours often over one word.

The greatest paintings are made up of minute detail. Leonardo da Vinci spent four years on "Mona Lisa" and then pronounced it unfinished.

The details may seem prosaic, yet they are anything but prosaic if our hearts are in our work. And real success never comes without the mastery of details.

The man who follows a routine that someone else has mapped out will always be doomed to routine. It is the one who thinks all around and behind his work, who finds new and better methods of doing things, who may hope to escape routine for the bigger things.

But he will never do the bigger things until he does the little things—until he observes and takes advantage of the minor opportunities.

In the long run the man who sees is the man who wins.—James A. Edgerton.

MRS. McGILL BROKE DOWN

Gives the Real Facts In Regard to Her Case and Tells How She Suffered.

Jonesboro, Ark.—"I suffered a complete break down in health, some time ago," writes Mrs. A. McGill, from this place. "I was very weak and could not do any work. I tried different remedies, but they did me no good.

One day, I got a bottle of Cardui. It did me so much good, I was surprised, and took some more.

Before I took Cardui, I had headache and backache, and sometimes I would cry for hours. Now I am over all that, and can do all kinds of housework. I think it is the greatest medicine on earth."

In the past fifty years, thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. McGill, to tell of the benefit received from Cardui.

Such testimony, from earnest women, surely indicates the great value of this tonic remedy, for diseases peculiar to women. Are you a sufferer? Yes? Cardui is the medicine you need. We urge you to try it.

A Hot Weather Story.

A restaurant temperature 212. Two gentlemen sizzling at luncheon.

First gentleman—Say, a scuttle of beer would go good about now.

Second gentleman—Right you are.

A hospital. Ambulance at door. Cries the young fellow in the white jacket:

Hello, doc! Business is fine. Got a couple more of 'em here; heat prostrations; same old story. I guess—beer with their luncheon."

Moral: We have it from the thermometer that even Republicans should at times forgive grape juice and cheer for the Beerless One.—New York Tribune.

TO BOOST MISSOURI.

Bureau of Labor Statistics Busy Gathering Information From All Sources.

The Missouri bureau of labor statistics is busy gathering from all county and city clerks of the state, and also from all commercial, industrial, manufacturers', farmers', and similar organizations, clubs, leagues, associations and alliances information to be used in the Missouri "Booster" pamphlet, a publication to be issued shortly to widely advertise the state, thereby attracting manufacturers, capitalists and desirable settlers. Regular blanks are being sent to those enumerated above, to be filled with the information, covering every county, which is needed to make his publication a success.

One of the features of the pamphlet is a map in colors, measuring eight by eight inches, of each county in the state. Labor Commissioner John T. Fitzpatrick says the maps will show the cities, towns, rivers, railroads and highways of each county.

The appropriations made for the labor bureau for the next two years is not as much as was needed, and, therefore, Commissioner Fitzpatrick is asking the organization of each county to pay the cost of their county map plate, to be used in the "booster" pamphlet. It is figured that the plates will not cost over $5 each. Aside from this one item the bureau is meeting all other expenses of the publication from its contigent fund. The sum asked for from the 1913 legislature was $50,000, but only $45,000 was given. The extra $5,000 would have been used to more fully advertise the advantages and resources of Missouri.

A 24-Hour Clock.

The French government some time ago adopted the 24-hour system of keeping time. The large clock on the St. Lazare station has just been fitted with a new dial. It shows the figures 0 to 11 during the day. At midnight these figures disappear and their place is taken by the figures 12 to 24.

Alfonso Fights for Money.

King Alfonso of Spain is fighting in the courts to keep possession of $500,000 willed to him by a lunatic. M. Sapene, the insane man, who died in 1911, left this will, dated 1908.

"I leave all my property as well as my titles of nobility and dignities of nobility to the present king of Spain."

The titles were fictitious, but the fortune is something which the king can use, and he does not intend to give it up to the man's relatives, who are trying to break the will, if he can help it.

New Wireless Talks to Europe.

Dr. Rudolf Goldschmidt, a German inventor, has perfected a powerful wireless apparatus which will operate across the Atlantic. Messages were sent the other day between Neudstadt, near Hanover, Germany, and Tuckerton, New Jersey. Those messages were sent in the daytime, a hitherto almost impossible thing in long distance wireless work.

The station at Tuckerton is not yet finished, but when complete will have a steel tower 850 feet high for the sending and receiving of messages. The tower of the Neudstadt station is 800 feet high. With such towers it will be possible to send messages not only between Europe and America, but between America and Asia, South America and perhaps Sydney, Australia. With three or four of these large masts the company expects to belt the world.

Another feature of the new system is the rapidity and cheapness with which messages can be sent. A rate of 8 cents a word to Europe is the aim of the company, and 200 words a minute can be sent.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Carmichael and children of Burlington Junction were in Maryville Thursday on their way to Conway, Ia., to visit Mr. Carmichael's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Carmichael.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Beattie went to St. Joseph Thursday for a two days' absence.

Mrs. C. S. Heflin and Miss Clara Yount went to Stanberry Thursday on a visit to their parents.

LADY CAMOYS.

American Girl's Son May Become a Member of the Peerage of Great Britain.

Lady Camoys, formerly Miss Mildred Sherman of Rhode Island, has given birth to a son and heir at Grosvenor Gardens, London. Miss Mildred Sherman, daughter of the late W. Watts Cherman of Rhode Island, was married to Ralph Francis Julian Stonor, fifth Baron Camoys, in November, 1911. Lord Camoys and Miss Sherman first met at the time of the wedding of Lord Decies and Miss Vivien Gould.

RIOT ENDS BALL GAME AT DENVER

Umpire Sigler Knocks Owner of Omaha Team Down.

Denver, July 10.—A small riot ended the game with Omaha in the first half of the sixth inning, when the score was 4 to 2 in favor of Denver, and was forfeited to Denver, 9 to 0.

Justice, the first man up, fouled out to Fisher. Thomason singled and Congalton doubled. Kane hit to Coffey who threw wild to Fisher, Thomason scoring on the play. Congalton attempted to score on the throw from Fisher to Block. Block failed to touch Congalton, who also failed to touch the base. Block then touched Congalton after the slide.

Congalton and Manager Abrogast protested and each began to fight with Umpire Sigler. The players and policemen interfered before much damage was done. As Sigler was leaving the grounds he passed near Owner Rourke of the Omaha team. A row began between them, culminating in the umpire knocking Rourke down.

The Fly Problem Solved.

Redlands, Cal., has solved the fly problem. Fly traps did it.

Traps paid for by the city have been placed at street corners and places where flies are most plentiful. A man was assigned to the task of burning the flies and rebaiting the traps. Millions on millions of flies were destroyed, and the city is almost flyless now.

A small trap, costing a few cents, placed on your back porch or near your garbage pail, will free your premises of flies. If you can get your immediate neighbors to follow your example you can rid the neighborhood of the pests. Flies don't travel. Those about your house are your own.

KEEPING UP THE MILK FLOW.

Amount of Cream Sold by Farmers Has Diminished About One-Third During Last Three Years.

W. M. Regan of the Missouri agricultural experiment station writes as follows on keeping up the milk flow:

The amount of cream sold by Missouri farmers has diminished about one-third during the last three weeks. This decrease is largely due to the recent severe drouth that has dried up the pastures. Only those cows that have received some feed beside pasture grass have kept up their usual June milk flow. The farmer who allows his cows to hustle for themselves on the parched pastures is making a mistake. Not only is it hard on the pastures but it is false economy to allow the cows to drop off in milk yield in order to save a few dollars on the feed bill. The grass, especially the bluegrass, must get its new growth from the roots, and if it is to make the best growth possible and produce the largest amount of feed it must be allowed to get a fair start. Grass grows much more rapidly after it is up a couple of inches than when it is closely cropped. By observing this point favorable weather conditions will result in good late pastures. In order to take advantage of these good late pastures and to profit by the higher price of butterfat which is paid in the fall and winter the milk yield of the cows must be kept up, for if it is allowed to drop off it can never be regained. Money spent for feed that does not return a profit now will do so later.

What to feed for this purpose will of course depend upon the kind of feed that is at hand. If possible, the feed should be succulent and cheap, if not it will probably be profitable to feed the higher priced dry feeds, as grain and hay, in order to maintain the yield. The green feeds which are usually used for this purpose, sorghum and corn, are not to be had this year because the drouth came so very early. But where a green feed is available it should be fed. The farmer whose oats crop is too short to bind can put it to no better purpose than that of using it as a green feed. For the farmer who is lucky enough or wise enough to have silage the problem is a simple one, as silage furnishes the best and cheapest feed for this purpose. This experience should prove a lesson to those farmers who have empty silos and to those who can afford to build silos but have neglected to do so. A supply of silage at a time like this means dollars saved.

HOUSE TO PROBE LOBBY CHARGES

Committee of Seven Named to Conduct Inquiry.

MANN DENIES ALLEGATIONS.

Minority Leader Says Changes in Judiciary Committee Were Not Made by Watson—Senate Committee Takes Testimony.

Washington, July 10.—Investigation of the Mulhall charges and all other charges of lobbying was authorized by the Henry resolution passed by the house. In face of the great opposition by Representative Levy of New York, provision allowing a committee of seven to employ counsel was returned to the bill. The investigation is expected to begin at once.

Speaker Clark appointed the following committee to conduct the investigation: Garrett (Tenn.), chairman; Cline (Ind.), Russell (Mo.) and Rodenberry (Ga.), Democrats; Stafford (Wis.) and Willis (O.), Republicans, and Nolan (Cal.), Progressive.

When the house prepared to vote on the proposal to have a special committee investigate the charges of Mulhall, Republican Leader Mann branded as "bald lies" Mulhall's published statements that former Representatives Pearre (Md.) Vreeland (N. Y.) and Bannon (O.) were removed from the judiciary committee "at the behest of the association through the influence of former Representative Watson."

Pearre's health was the cause of his failure of reassignment, Mr. Mann declared, Vreeland never was a member of the judiciary committee and Bannon failed of reassignment because he had not been re-elected to congress.

Representative Henry replied by quoting a statement from Pearre that he had been removed by former Speaker Cannon at the instance of the manufacturers' association.

Lobbyist Paid Thirty a Day.

A. D. Baldwin, a Cleveland attorney, before the senate lobby committee, testified that in Washington, talking to congressmen about the sugar tariff, he represented Alexander & Baldwin of New York and received $30 a day.

A. S. Smith of Tennille, Ga., president of the state branch of the Farmers' union, was questioned about a meeting of a committee of the National Farmers' union at New Orleans last spring, at which a scheme to increase the consumption of cotton was to be disclosed.

He testified that his expenses there were paid by R. D. Bowen, president of the Texas branch of the union. President Barrett of the national organization was not present.

Speculators Use Farmers' Union.

H. H. Mobley of Prairie Grove, Ark., president of the State Farmers' union, said he was at the New Orleans meeting called by Bowen. He signed a telegram to the Arkansas senators at Bowen's dictation, asking for a hearing for Arkansas cotton interests.

"I am slow to make accusations," said Mobley, "but I have come to know that at all our meetings, state and national, we are surrounded by men who want us to do something for their interests."

RUMANIA TO INTERVENE

Will Attack Bulgaria If Latter Gains Ascendancy Over Servia.

London, July 10.—The invasion of Bulgaria by the Rumanian army, whose mobilization will be completed this week, will begin forthwith, according to Rumanian diplomats here, if in the meanwhile the results of the hostilities appear to be going against Servia.

It is asserted that the sole object of Rumania is to insure against any disturbances of the balance of power in the Balkans being detrimental to it, as it would be if Bulgaria grew too powerful. Should the Servians be victorious in the war Rumania is prepared to intervene on the side of Bulgaria with the same object in view.

Bulgaria Willing to Negotiate.

Vienna, July 10.—The Bulgarian government is reported to have sent a circular to the European powers expressing its readiness to negotiate for peace. The Bulgarian and Servian commanders in chief are stated here to be already negotiating an armistice as the losses of both armies in killed and wounded are so immense and it is feared that the epidemic of cholera, which has broken out among the troops, may get beyond control.

Six Soldiers Killed in Wreck.

Washington, July 10.—The six soldiers killed in Manila when a flat car jumped the track and overturned were Privates Boyd Manes of the quartermaster's corps; Louis D. Koening, Elmer Nertzinger, John Paul, Albert R. Wells and George Hughes, according to a dispatch received at the war department. All belonged to the Ninety-fifth company, coast artillery.

Rear Admiral Caswell Dead.

Providence, R. I., July 10.—Rear Admiral Thomas Thompson Caswell, United States navy, retired, aged seventy-three years, died at Weekapaugh, where he had made his summer home for the last seven years. After thirty-eight years continuous service in the navy he was retired on June 5, 1899.

CAPTAIN T. M. POTTS.

Naval Officer Who Has Been Retired Will Make Fight For Reinstatement.

The recent retirement by the "plucking board" of Captain Templin M. Potts, who saved the battleship Louisiana from sinking a few days ago off Newport, is considered by members of the naval committee of the house a proper subject for investigation. Up to the time Secretary Daniels took office Captain Potts had been considered worthy of promotion to rear admiral, but Daniels insisted he should have more sea service. Captain Potts is going to Washington to test the power of the "plucking board." His contention will be that even if he had shore duties for a number of years it was not of his own seeking, but ordered by the secretary of the navy.

REPUBLICANS SEE TARIFF LAW BLOCKED

Say Many Provisions Must Be Interpreted by Courts.

Washington, July 10.—If the tariff revision bill becomes a law as it has been passed upon by the senate Democratic caucus many of its provisions will be tied up in the courts for interpretation, is the opinion of Republican senate leaders.

Senator Smoot, Republican member of the finance committee, said that the changes in phraseology and reclassifications in the bill are such that it would take four years of court procedure to settle just what they mean, and that revenues in the meantime would be held up.

The Democratic senators, in view of the failure of the caucus to pass a stringent binding resolution, are going to be permitted to vote for amendments to the wool and sugar schedules, according to claims made by the Republicans.

They expressed the belief that amendments would pass the senate cutting out free raw wool and free sugar, but that the house conferees would insist upon the original provisions; that the senate conferees would yield, and that all the Democrats finally would approve the conference report.

The final draft of the Underwood-Simmons bill was completed by majority members of the finance committee and sent to the printer. Chairman Simmons is expected to report it to the senate.

Agree on Currency Measure.

Washington, July 10.—Secretary McAdoo issued a statement announcing that he and Chairmen Owen and Glass of the senate and house banking and currency committees, had agreed on an amendment to the currency bill, which would retain the circulation privilege for the United States 2 per cent bonds during the entire period of twenty years, over which it is proposed to retire the existing $700,000,000 issue of national bank notes secured by the bonds.

FIRE MENACES FRISCO SUBURBS

Mount Tamalpais is Burning on Three Sides.

TRADE WINDS FAN FLAMES.

Three Thousand Soldiers, Sailors and Others Fight Blaze—Women and Children in Fear—Huddle in Terrorized Groups in Street of Mill Valley.

San Francisco, July 10.—Mount Tamalpais, a landmark of California and the playground and park of all the cities clustered about San Francisco bay, is burning fiercely on three sides, toward three suburbs. By day a mantle of white smoke, floating windborne across the bay like a streaming scarf, has cloaked the shoulders of the mountain, but at night the reflection from its glowing flanks is painted on the skies and its contours are limned in fire against the blackness.

Each morning has brought deceptive assurances that danger was past, but each afternoon the summer trade winds, pressing steadily in the great Pacific, whipped the flames against them in charging armies that leaped from rim to rim of steep canyons, across trenches laboriously hewed and shaded through the underbrush, and into fresh tinder on the far side of acres burned bare by backfires. Careless campers are blamed.

Three Thousand Fight Fire.

Three thousand soldiers, sailors, naval apprentices, forest rangers, militiamen and volunteer civilians are enrolled as fire fighters. In all the threatened territory women have worked almost as the men, cooking rations night and day. Shops are closed and business is at a standstill.

The women and children of Mill Valley, the suburb across the bay in Marion county, are huddled in terrorized groups in the streets, watching the approach down Blythedale canyon of the fire, which their husbands and fathers, aided by men of the army and navy, are struggling to check. The wind slackened somewhat, but the flames continued to advance steadily toward the town, whose fate will not be decided until tonight.

Warned to Flee.

All residents in the fire area, including the 1,500 inhabitants of Mill Valley and the hundreds of others whose homes are scattered along the Tamalpais canyons, were warned to seek safety in flight and with them a small army of sojourners poured down from the summer camping districts.

Mount Tamalpais rises from the north side of San Francisco bay. Easy access by suburban electric and ferry service has made populous with wealthy summer residents and commuters a string of villages and cities in the foothills.

M'ADOO AWAITING REPORT

Question of Whether Bank Act Violated Considered Later.

Washington, July 10.—Secretary McAdoo decided to await the report of National Bank Examiner Samuel Hann, who has been investigating the failed First-Second National bank of Pittsburgh, before calling upon Attorney General McReynolds to take up the question of whether the national bank act was violated in any of the operations of the institution. Chairman McKnight of the Pittsburgh Clearing House association advised Comptroller Kane over the long distance telephone that the banking conditions in Pittsburgh were clearing up satisfactorily. He said the run on the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings had practically subsided and that some of the money drawn was coming back.

WOULD INVOKE OLD LAW

Farmers Appeal to Governor of Kansas Against the Hoppers.

Topeka, July 10.—Governor Hodges received an appeal from farmers of western Kansas asking him to invoke an old law to aid in the fight on grasshoppers in the western counties. The law, long unused, was enacted just after great grasshopper invasions of the state in 1873. It provides that "every able-bodied man, woman or child between the ages of twelve and sixty years may be called upon to fight grasshoppers."

In the last week farmers have reported thousands of dollars loss to crops from myriads of grasshoppers.

RAIL APPRAISERS CHOSEN

Commerce Commission Accepts Aid of States' Committee.

Washington, July 10.—A valuation committee of fifteen state railroad commissioners, headed by Clifford Thorne of the Iowa commission, was selected by the executive committee of the National Association of state Railway Commissioners to co-operate with the interstate commerce commission in making a physical valuation of railroads.

Commissioners from fifteen states were named on the committee, Commissioner Clarke of Nebraska being among the number.

McCombs' Condition Satisfactory.

Paris, July 10.—The condition of W. F. McCombs, chairman Democratic national committee, is declared most satisfactory by the surgeons in attendance. His progress toward recovery from the operation for appendicitis is said to be perfectly normal.

Little Stomach.

(Inside Information.)

Little Stomach wakes up bright,
Feeling good—slept well all night;
Master sends his breakfast down—
Bacon, eggs and coffee brown;
Little Stomach goes to work
To digest without a shirk;
Breakfast scarcely finished when
Here comes lunch for two brave men!
Little Stomach onward toils
Thro' the fricasseed and broils;
Then, as if to get his goat,
Comes a dinner, table d'hote;
Everything from soup to nuts;
Master is the King of Mutts;
Dinner measures two hours long—
Twixt the courses, wine and song;
Not the sparkling champagne drink,
But a wine a la red ink;
Little Stomach buckles down
To his task without a frown;
Works like fury there below
While good master sees a show;
Table d'hote is stowed away;
Little Stomach's earned his pay;
"Now I'll rest till morn," says he;
But, alas, that's not to be!
Just as he curls up to sleep
Comes a high ball broad and deep.
Crying, "Cheer up, Little 'Tum!'
More to follow! Here I come!"
Cocktail lands on top of that.
Then the Brothers Gin stand pat;
Tom and Gordon are their names;
Most illustrious are their fames;
Lobster salad is the next;
Little Stomach is quite vexed;
Holy Smike! Hang Haman high!—
Splash—a quart of extra dry!
Little stomach now is peeved,
Hurt, indignant, sorely grieved;
Joke's a joke, when it's at par;
But this joke has gone too far;
Little Stomach thus doth quoth:
"By my sacred stomach oath,
I'll get even with this gink
For this too excessive drink!"

L'ENVOI.

(The Morning After.)

"Oh, my poor, dear, aching head!
Would to goodness I were dead!
Oh, so very sick am I
Joy 'twould give me just to die!"
Little Stomach laughs with glee:
"Serves him right! Ho-ho! Tee-hee!"

LOVER WORTH WHILE

Lovely Lass—Derelict and the Precious Treasure Left in the Ship's Cabin.

By FLORENCE LILLIAN HENDERSON.

Melvin Warrington was a lover worth while. Strange things happen in this world at times that recall the age of chivalry. Romance is not entirely dead, and amid a quiet, everyday existence this superior young man suddenly found himself enmeshed in a labyrinth of daring and adventure well worthy of the knights of old.

It all came about in the most natural fashion. He loved Myra Evans—he, poor and ambitious. So did Rolfe Daniels—rich, selfish and an idler. Her father had borrowed all the money he could to fit out an expedition to Australia to import a new breed of sheep. The Lovely Lass was purchased, sailed away with her young brother in charge, was wrecked in a terrible storm at sea, and Lisle Evans came home crippled, a pauper and his health broken.

The worst of it was that when all hands were forced to abandon the Lovely Lass 350 miles west of the South American coast, in the rush and peril of the occasion Lisle had left in a certain box in a certain part of its cabin over $20,000 in money to buy the ship with, and papers representing as much more. An abandoned derelict, the captain and crew gave her up for lost. The blow crushed the proud spirit of old Colonel Evans. He had mortgaged his home to fit out the venture. In some way Rolfe Daniels had secured the notes. He pressed payment. Ruin stared the Evans family in the face. It was then that Daniels proposed to cancel the obligation if Myra would become his wife.

A despairing father, a helpless brother, poverty ahead, not for a moment did the poor girl forget her lover, Melvin Warrington, but drooping daily, for the sake of her father she consented to make a great sacrifice. She spoke a last heart-broken farewell to Melvin. She was to marry the man of money in six months.

One day Lisle Evans called upon Melvin. There were tears in his eyes as he spoke of Myra. He deprecated the selfishness of his father. He sought some way out of the sacrifice that was destined to bring gloom and despair into his life and that of poor, loyal Myra.

"Listen, Melvin," he said, "this marriage must never take place. I can do nothing in my condition, but you—if I show you a possible chance to save Myra, what would you say?"

"You know without asking," respounded Melvin, with deep emotion. "I would give my life for her, for any member of her family.

"Then listen, my friend. I am satisfied that the Lovely Lass is still afloat," declared Lisle. "I feel certain that somewhere on the bosom of the broad Pacific she is knocking about, with that treasure, which means the salvation of our family, aboard. Lloyd's Register has printed her 'foundered,' but this marine oblit was later changed to 'Abandoned at Sea.' January 12 a tramp schooner sighted her 600 miles west of Chili, and attempted to take her in tow. During February she was passed by six different ships. In March the French liner, Dubois, nearly ran into her during a night storm. She has become such a menace to navigation that the American Lloyds have posted notices for her destruction wherever found, else some fine night some big liner will smash into her, carrying down every soul on board."

"And since March?" inquired Melvin.

"Not a word regarding her until last month, when she was sighted 400 miles west of the Bolivian coast near the Djalmi islands, at which no ships stop on account of the unfriendliness of its savage population."

For two days Melvin Warrington reflected over this interview. He studied maps, he consulted old sailors, then he made up his mind to devote all his money and time to scouring leagues of trackless ocean, to traverse thousands of weary miles to seek for the missing Lovely Lass and win back a fortune from the deep—and Myra Evans.

This is why, two months later, the devoted lover found himself the inmate of a hotel at Valparaiso. His little store of money was all but exhausted when he had chartered a small yacht. From close investigation Melvin had decided that the Lovely Lass, if afloat, was grounded in some of the numerous inlets of the Djalmi islands.

The day before the yacht sailed, a brisk, business appearing young man sought out Melvin.

"I learn you are going on a cruise to the Djalmi islands," he observed. "I will pay you $500 to take me there and return."

Of course Melvin accepted the offer. He found his passenger, who called himself Hudson, decidedly reserved as to the motive of his strange voyage, however. He constantly carried a small satchel, and Melvin often wondered what it might contain.

When the yacht reached the Djalmi islands, Melvin ordered that it land him on the barren eastern coast of the largest of the group. This was done to evade the natives, who lived at the more fertile southern end. The Lovely Lass had been sighted about the center of the group of islands, to the west. To his surprise, when he left the yacht, Hudson accompanied him.

Neither disclosed his purpose in the curious jaunt. That day shortly after noon, while lining an impassable ravine, they came to a rude bamboo bridge. They had just traversed it, when a shower of darts rained about them, and half a hundred savages appeared in the distance.

"We are safe, so long as they cannot cross," observed Hudson. "I'll fix that."

He opened the satchel he carried so constantly, selected an oblong package, opened one end ,and gave it a fling. In an instant the bridge was shattered to atoms.

"Dynamite," explained Hudson, and Melvin marveled more than ever at the eccentric comrade who went about loaded with the deadly explosive.

They camped that night near the west shore. At daybreak Melvin was on the move. He went along the shore, came to an inlet, and there, dismantled and lying on her beam ends, was—the Lovely Lass.

How his heart beat as he swam to the wreck and descended a water-logged cabin, to find the hiding place, and within it—the precious tin box!

Melmin came back to the deck with a cheer, the box thrust in his bosom. He chanced to glance ashore. There stood Hudson. He had just fired at the wreck one of his sticks of dynamite.

Just in time Melvin dove. A frightful crash sounded out. Even in the water he could feel the concussion. Coming up, he dove again, for the air was filled with hurtling splinters. He came ashore finally, to confront the astonished Hudson.

Then there were mutual explanations. Hudson was a special representative of the Lloyds of London, commissioned at any cost to destroy the derelict.

"One minute more inside that ship," shuddered Melvin, "and she would never have known my fate!"

"She," questioned Hudson, with his usual quaint, challenging smile.

"Yes, the sweetest, dearest, loveliest woman in the world!" replied Melvin, with fervor.

He knew that she was all his own three months later, when he handed to Colonel Evans the little tin box rescued from the Lovely Lass—derelict.

EDUCATION OF A GENTLEMAN

Speaker Made Point Which Most Men Will Feel Qualified to Answer.

Friday afternoon was "debate day" in a Virginia rural school. On that afternoon classes after two o'clock were let go, and the assembled school listened to shyly spoken pieces of poetry and addresses to gladiators. Then came the climax, the debate when world issues were settled for once and all. The speeches were after the pattern of this one, which one teacher recalls:

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: I rise to defend the affirmative of the question whether it is better to have wealth or education. Mr. Chairman, if you was to get a kiss-letter from a lady and couldn't read it, wouldn't you just feel like going away and dying? I close now to give place to an abler speaker."

A fellow we know—one of those chaps who affect a terrible scorn for the lower classes, but who always pauses to hear a tale of woe from the lowliest victim of the present state of society—this fellow stopped on the curb the other day to hear the story of a little pickaninny who was weeping and alone.

"What's the trouble?" asked our friend gruffly.

"Ah, got a new baby brother at ouah house!" wailed the child.

"Then why do you cry? Angels bring baby brothers."

"Dass what dey done tol' me. But why does de angels pick out all the blackets one fo' ouah fambly?"

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
